- 2.2 This Agreement will commence on the last to occur of the following:
 - (a) The date on which You execute this Agreement;

You on a continuing basis until this Agreement is terminated in accordance with clause 16.

2.5 You represent and warrant to Us as follows:

- (a) If You are an individual, You are at least 18 years of age;

3.2 Axis is a private limited company registered in England, company number 08133033. The registered office of Axis Capital Markets Limited is 2nd Floor, St Clements House, 27 Clements Lane, London, EC4N 7AE.

3.3 Axis operates under the trading name of AxCap247.

3.4 Axis is a member of the London Stock Exchange AXCKGB22.

4. CLIENT CATEGORISATION

4.1 In accordance with FCA Rules, We have classified You as a professional client. You have the right to request a different classification and the details of any changes to the level of protection that a different classification might entail, but we reserve the right to decline such a request. As a professional client, You will receive a lesser degree of regulatory protection than is provided by regulated investment firms to their retail clients, and You may lose (or not have) certain protections and compensation rights to which a retail client is automatically entitled under the FCA Rules and FSMA, You agree to notify Us immediately if You consider at any point that You would no longer fall within the definition of professional client.

- 4.2 A summary of the main differences between the treatment of professional clients and retail clients is set out at Appendix A.
- 4.3 Whenever We deal with You it will be on the basis that only You are our customer under these Terms Of Business and that even if You are acting as an agent and have identified Your client to us, unless otherwise required by FCA Rules, Your principal will not be Our client and You will remain liable to Us as principal in relation to any transactions that You execute with us.
- 4.4 Important – the Custodian’s appointment is regulated entirely by an agreement between Us and the Custodian. You are not deemed to be party to any such agreement, though the Custodian may be under obligations under the FCA Rules to classify You. While in such a case We expect the Custodian to classify You as a professional client, We cannot assure that this happens.
- 4.5 In providing the Advisory Service, We will advise You, at Your request, on entering into investments and exercising Your rights in relation thereto. We seek to ensure that Our advice is suitable for You based on the information that You provide to Us with respect to Your investment objectives. It remains Your sole responsibility to inform us of any changes to Your circumstances, requirements and objectives.
- 4.6 Our Advisory Services are available for Professional Clients and Eligible Counterparties only. If You are recategorized as a retail client at any time after the date of entering into this Agreement, please be aware that our Advisory Services will no longer be available to You.

5. SCOPE OF SERVICES TO BE PROVIDED

- 5.1 We may provide You with Our Advisory Services under which We may recommend to You any Investments which We reasonably believe are suitable for You. All decisions on whether to invest in, hold or dispose of any investment or asset are Yours and We will only enter into transactions in accordance with Your instructions.
- 5.2 However, if You are an Execution-only client We will not provide our Advisory Services to You. In this case it is clearly understood that all transactions are undertaken with or for You on the basis that the Investment decision(s) involved will have been made by You.

- 5.3 Please note that whether an Investment transaction results from the use of Our Advisory Services or Our Execution-Only Services, We may be acting on a matched-principal basis, where You will be trading the Investment with or through Us as a position that is matched with that of another client of Axis (whom We may have advised with respect thereto).
- 5.4 Each Forex transaction will normally comprise a spot transaction in respect of currency pair and its exchange rate. Spot transactions will be due for delivery two days after dealing; however, We will automatically roll Your positions out every day until they are closed out by You or an appointed attorney. Further details are set out in clause 7 below.
- 5.5 A particular transaction may involve delivery of the relevant currency if We agree to this in advance. If delivery of currency occurs, You will be liable to make or receive delivery and to pay for all related costs.
- 5.6 The services We provide under this Agreement may involve margined transactions.
- 5.7 Important – Axis does not provide any services to its clients in respect of the safeguarding and administration of their Investments. It is for this purpose that We have engaged the Custodian (pursuant to our permission from the FCA to arrange for our clients' Investments to be safeguarded and administered by the Custodian). Axis will at no time hold any Investments of Yours for the purposes of safeguarding.

6. PROVISION OF SERVICES

- 6.1 We shall use reasonable endeavours to ensure that any information We provide to You as part of the Services is accurate at the time of provision, but You hereby acknowledge that information provided by Us may be based upon incomplete or unverified information obtained from third parties. We shall not be liable for any costs, claims, liabilities, expenses or losses which You may suffer as a result of relying on any such information unless We acknowledge or are proven to be negligent or have acted in bad faith.

6.2 Our execution dealings for You will be in accordance with our Order Execution Policy, details of which will be provided under separate cover.

6.3 We are not authorised to and will not act for You on a discretionary basis.

6.4 We shall not be obliged to effect any transaction, nor do anything else, which We believe would breach any statute law or regulation.

7. MARGIN TRADING AND FOREX TRANSACTIONS

7.1 You should not engage in Margin Trading unless You understand the nature of the contracts and the extent of Your exposure to risk. Further details of the risks associated with Margin Trading and information about Margin Trading is set out in Appendix D.

7.2 Forex transactions are a type of Margin Trading and involve You reaching a view as to what You consider the price of one currency will be against the price of another currency in the future (a "currency pair"). For each currency pair We will quote a bid price, which is the price We will pay You in the secondary currency for the position in the base currency, and an offer price, which is the price You will pay Us in the secondary currency for the position in the base currency. The difference between the bid price and the offer price is known as the spread.

7.3 Transactions in Margin Trading involve an obligation to settle a position at a future date. There may be financing costs in holding a Margin Trading position overnight.

7.4 We may agree to allow You to use stop-loss, limit-loss or take-profit orders to limit Your losses or secure Your gains whilst Margin Trading.

8. MARGINS AND COLLATERAL PAYMENTS

8.1 During the lifetime of any Financial Instrument, We, at our absolute discretion, reserve the right to review and adjust the percentage of funding required or the rates at which interest is calculated on such Financial Instrument, with or without notice to you. Positions that are open overnight may be adjusted to reflect the cost of carrying such positions over to the next trading day.

- 8.2 Where we effect or arrange a Transaction involving a CFD , You may be liable to make further payments when the Transaction fails to be completed or upon the earlier of the Transaction settlement or closing out of Your position. You will be required to make further variable payments by way of margin against the purchase price of the Financial Instrument, instead of paying (or receiving) the whole purchase (or sale) price immediately. The movement in the market price of Your investment will affect the amount of margin payment You will be required to make. We will monitor Your margin requirements on a daily basis and We will inform You as soon as it is reasonably practicable of the amount of any margin payment required under this clause.
- 8.3 You agree to pay Us on demand such sums by way of margin as are required from time to time or as We may in our discretion reasonably require for the purpose of protecting ourselves against loss or risk of loss on present, future or contemplated transactions under these Terms Of Business.
- 8.4 Unless otherwise agreed, margin must be paid in cash. Cash margin is paid to Us as an outright transfer of funds and You will not retain any interest in it. Cash margin received by Us will be recorded by Us as a cash repayment obligation owed by Us to You.
- 8.5 In addition, and without prejudice to any rights to which We may be entitled under these Terms of Business or any Regulations, We shall have a general lien on all funds held by Us or the Custodian on Your behalf until the satisfaction of all of Your obligations to Us under this Agreement.
- 8.6 We shall have the right, in addition to any other rights We may have under these Terms of Business, or under the law in general, to close out, cancel and/or limit the size of Your open positions (new or gross) and/or to refuse to establish new positions. Situations where We may exercise such right include, but are not limited to, where:

- (a) We consider that there are abnormal trading conditions.
 - (b) We consider there to have been abusive trading strategies transmitted to Us.
 - (c) Your account has reached Stop Out level.
- 8.7 At margin levels of less than 50% of Your equity, We have a right to begin closing positions immediately and without notice. Individual stop out levels are set at 50% of Your margin level and We reserve the right to close out all or any of Your Open Positions below stop out level immediately and without notice. However, these percentage levels may vary depending on market conditions and platform type; please see Our website for further details www.axcap247.com
- 8.8 For deals entered using Our online trading platform (“MT4”), We have a right to issue margin calls when the margin level is below the platform/region Margin Call %. Deals will start to be closed automatically and without any further notice when the margin level falls below the stop-out level. If You use MT4 You may receive e-mails notifying You of such levels. If You use a WebTrader You will receive notification from within the platform. It is Your responsibility to be and remain aware at all times of Your margin levels and the standing of Your account at all times.
- 8.9 We shall be entitled to retain monies which are required to cover adverse positions, initial margin, variation margin, any uncleared funds, realized losses and any and all other amounts payable to Us under these Terms of Business.
- 8.10 Whenever We conduct currency conversions, We will do so at such reasonable rate(s) of exchange as We may determine.

9. TRADING PLATFORM(S)

- 9.7 When using the Trading Platform(s), You are solely responsible for:
- (a) Ensuring that Your systems are maintained in good order and are suitable for use with the Trading Platform;

 - (c) Carrying out virus and related checks on a frequent basis (typically not less often than once per month);
 - (d) Informing Us immediately of any unauthorised access in Your name to the Trading Platform(s) or any unauthorised transaction or instruction which You know of or suspect has been proffered for Your account and, if within Your control, causing such unauthorised use to cease.

- (e) Not at any time leaving the terminal from which You have accessed the Trading Platform(s) unattended while connected thereto, or permitting anyone else use the terminal until You have logged off from the Trading Platform(s).
- 9.8 In the event You become aware of a material defect, malfunction or virus in the Trading Platform(s), You will immediately notify Us and cease all use of the Trading Platform(s) until You have received permission from Us to resume use.
- 9.9 All rights in patents, copyrights, design rights, trademarks and any other intellectual property rights (whether registered or unregistered) relating to the Trading Platform(s) remain vested in Us or Our licensors. You will not copy, interfere with, tamper with, alter, amend or modify the Trading Platform(s) or any part or parts thereof unless expressly permitted by Us in writing. You shall ensure that all the licensors' trademarks and copyright and restricted rights notices are reproduced on these copies.
- 9.10 Without prejudice to any other terms of this Agreement, relating to the limitation of liability and provision of indemnities, the following clauses shall apply to the Trading Platform(s).
- (a) We shall have no liability to You for damage which You may suffer as a result of transmission errors, technical faults, malfunctions, illegal intervention in network equipment, network overloads, malicious blocking of access by third parties, internet malfunctions, interruptions or other deficiencies on the part of internet service providers. You acknowledge that access to the Trading Platform(s) may be limited or unavailable due to such system errors, and that We reserve the right upon notice to suspend access to the Trading Platform(s) for this reason.
 - (b) Neither We, nor any third party software provider accept any liability in respect of any delays, inaccuracies, errors or omissions in any data provided to You in connection with the Trading Platform(s).
 - (c) We shall have no liability to You in the event that any viruses, worms, software bombs or similar items are introduced via the Trading Platform(s) or any software provided by Us to You in order to enable You to use the Trading Platform(s) provided that We have taken reasonable steps to prevent any such introduction.

- (d) You will ensure that no computer viruses, worms, software bombs or similar items are introduced into Our computer system or network and will indemnify Us on demand for any loss that We suffer arising as a result of any such introduction.
- (e) We shall not be liable for any loss, liability or cost whatsoever arising from any unauthorised use of the Trading Platform(s). 9.11 We may suspend or permanently withdraw the Trading Platform(s) by giving You 10 days written notice.

9.12 We have the right, unilaterally and with immediate effect, to suspend or withdraw permanently Your ability to use the Trading Platform(s), or any part thereof, without notice, where We consider it necessary or advisable to do so. In addition, the use of the Trading Platform(s) may be terminated automatically upon the termination (for whatever reason) of

- (b) These Terms of Business.

9.13 In the event of a termination of the use of the Trading Platform(s) for any reason, You shall, at Our option, return to Us or destroy all hardware, software and documentation We have provided You in connection with the Trading Platform(s) and any copies thereof.

10. INSTRUCTIONS

10.1 All instructions regarding Margin Trading transactions between You and Us should be made to Us using the Trading Platform.

- 10.2 We shall be entitled to rely on oral or written instructions communicated to Us and received by Us. We may at Our discretion refuse to accept any new instruction from You. We may acknowledge Your instruction by such means as We consider appropriate whether orally, in writing, by actual performance or otherwise.
- 10.3 We may (but are not required to) set limits on Your ability to give instructions and may increase, decrease, remove or add such limits in our discretion.
- 10.4 We shall not be bound by any bid or offer price quoted which was manifestly incorrect at the time of the transaction or which was, or which You reasonably should have known was, incorrect at the time of the transaction. In such cases We may cancel the transaction or correct the erroneous price.
- 10.5 We shall not accept instructions from third parties unless a valid power of attorney has been established for this purpose.
- 10.6 The dispatch of an instruction to Us by post or electronic means does not guarantee its timely receipt.
- 10.7 We shall use our reasonable efforts to act on Your instructions in the order in which We receive them.
- 10.8 Instructions can only be processed during normal working hours. This means that Your instructions may not always be processed as soon as Axis receives them. Subject to the preceding provisions of this clause 10 qualifying Our obligation to accept and process instructions, Axis will do what it reasonably can to implement Your instructions as soon as they are received.
- 10.9 In the absence of manifest error, Our records will stand as formal evidence of Your transactions with Us and You acknowledge that such records may be produced in a form other than the original in the event of dispute between Us. You may not rely on Us to maintain records for You but We may make such records available to You on Your reasonable request and may charge a reasonable administrative fee for doing so.

11. COMMUNICATIONS

- 11.1 You may communicate with Axis by post or email. All communications between Us and You will be to the address or email and to the individual/department/account name specified at www.axcap247.com under "Contact".

- 11.2 Communications between You and Us are taken to be received:
- (a) If sent by post: three Business Days after the date of posting, or five Business Days if sent to or from a place outside the UK;
 - (b) If sent by electronic mail: on the date following dispatch.
- 11.3 Orders may also be given by telephone or email if You have previously agreed this with Axis.
- 11.4 You accept that all telephone calls may be recorded and such recording remains the sole property of Axis. Axis may rely on these recordings as conclusive evidence of the conversations recorded in the event of a dispute. You agree that We may deliver copies or transcripts of such recordings to any court or regulatory authority if required thereby to do so.
- 11.5 All communications under this Agreement will be in English.
- 11.6 It is Your responsibility to keep Us up to date with any changes to Your email and postal address as well as changes to the telephone numbers You have provided Us with.

12. CLIENT MONEY ARRANGEMENTS

- 12.1 Money held by Us on Your behalf will be treated as client money within the meaning of the Client Money Rules. We will, no later than the close of business on the Business Day We receive it, promptly credit Your client money to a segregated client account held at an Approved Bank in accordance with the FCA Rules and maintained in Our name by the Custodian.
- 12.2 Where, in our discretion, We consider that the amount of money You have transferred to Us is more than is necessary to cover Your present, future, actual, contingent or prospective obligations to Us or a third party, We shall treat any excess in accordance with the Client Money Rules.

- 12.3 Axis will not pay or allow interest on client money.
- 12.4 You will be required to settle Your transactions with funds drawn from an account in Your own name. Your account must be with a bank that is regulated within the European Economic Area.
- 12.5 If there has been no movement on Your account for a period of not less than six years (apart from payment of interest or deduction of charges, interest or similar items), We shall be entitled to cease to treat the balance on Your account as client money. However, before We do so, We will send notice to that effect to Your last known address, giving You 28 days in which to make a claim. We will make and retain records of all such balances and undertake to make good any valid claims in respect of such funds received during such period.
- 12.6 In carrying out business for You, Axis may transfer money held on Your behalf to a third party such as an exchange, clearing house or intermediary broker for the fulfilment of a particular transaction. If such third party operates outside of the United Kingdom, the Client Money Rules will not apply to the manner in which it holds such money and You should be aware that as a result such money may not be as well protected as it is when held subject to the arrangements in clause 12.1.
- 12.7 If We close all of Your accounts so that there are no open Transactions, We will pay to You the net credit balance of Your accounts after deducting all outstanding amounts, which You owe to Us or a third party to whom We are obligated to make payment.

13. CLIENT ASSETS

- 13.1 Axis has appointed the Custodian, and will separately provide you with written notice of the details thereof. Axis reserves the right to replace the Custodian at any time. Please note that:
- (a) Axis restricts its liability to You for the prudent selection and retention of the Custodian, but is not otherwise liable to you for the acts and omissions of the Custodian.
 - (b) A copy of the agreement between Axis and the Custodian is available upon request. You are not a party to that agreement and the Custodian is entitled to provide that You have no rights to enforce its terms.

13.2 Subject to the provisions of this clause 13 related to treatment of Pledged/ Hypothecated Assets and TTCAs:

- (a) the Custodian is responsible for holding in safe custody Your assets in accordance with the provisions of the relevant provisions of the FCA CASS Sourcebook pertaining to the holding of clients' assets ("the Client Assets Rules");
- (b) however, the Custodian may be obliged for regulatory or operational reasons to engage sub-custodians operating in jurisdictions other than the United Kingdom, who operate under different regulatory regimes and where lesser standards for the protection of Your assets may apply; and
- (c) the Custodian has informed us that its procedure under its agreement with Axis is to segregate all investments for all Axis clients into an omnibus custody account (separate and distinct from any such other account for other clients of the Custodian and from the Custodian's own property). However, the Custodian does not undertake in its agreement with Axis to individually identify any investment in such account for Your or any other Axis client's benefit, and will be dependent on Our record-keeping for these purposes. For the purposes of these Terms of Business, where it is indicated that the Custodian holds assets "for Your benefit", this is deemed to refer to no more than the placement of such assets into an Axis-denominated omnibus account as aforementioned.

13.3 The following provisions apply in relation to Pledged/ Hypothecated Assets:

- (a) Where You inform Us that You are providing to the Custodian Pledged/ Hypothecated Assets as security against Your obligation to service finance arrangements to which You are party with third party lenders or credit providers, You give Axis to direct the Custodian immediately and continuously to treat Pledged/ Hypothecated Assets as Our own beneficial property, and You undertake to provide the Custodian on demand with such documents or other assistance as enable the Custodian to deal in the Pledged/ Hypothecated Assets to Our order and provide good title thereto.

- (b) Upon Your provision to Axis and to the Custodian of evidence that any loan or provision of credit to which the pledge of the Pledged/ Hypothecated Assets was connected has been settled or discharged in full by the lender or credit provider, We will ensure that the Custodian commits to immediately re-transfer to You (or to hold in safe custody for your benefit) assets of equivalent number, type or class as the Pledged/ Hypothecated Assets, it being clarified that such re-transferred assets are not treated for any purposes as Pledged/ Hypothecated Assets and are therefore held for Your benefit subject to the provisions of the Client Assets Rules.
- (c) Important – no part of any arrangement with the Custodian or Us has any bearing on Your obligation to honour the terms of the loan or credit provision to which the Pledged/ Hypothecated Assets are related. Axis and the Custodian have no liabilities of any sort to any such lender or credit provider, and You will be required to indemnify Axis and the Custodian in full for any costs, claims, expenses or losses either may sustain by reason of any claim by such lender or credit provider.

13.4 This clause makes further specific provision for Title Transfer Collateral Arrangements (TTCAs). A TTCA is an arrangement under which money or assets that are provided to Us or the Custodian for the purposes of collateralising obligations that You enter into under this Agreement shall be treated as becoming Our exclusive beneficial property.

- (a) Where We notify you of Our intention to use a TTCA in relation to Your obligations to Axis:
 - (i) the Client Money Rules will not apply in respect of any monies provided as collateral under the TTCA; and
 - (ii) The Client Assets Rules will not apply in respect of any non-cash collateral provided under the TTCA, but instead, full legal and beneficial ownership will be treated as having been transferred by You to Axis for the purpose of securing or otherwise covering any or all of Your present or future, actual or contingent or prospective obligations under this Agreement. Axis is accordingly entitled to arrange to hold all moneys under the TTCA unsegregated from its own moneys, and to sanction or direct the Custodian to treat all non-cash assets under the TTCA as held to the order of Axis.

- (b) Axis will provide You with such further documentation as We may be advised to be necessary to establish and maintain any TTCA. You agree to provide to Axis on demand such further documentation or other materials as may be needed in order to give full effect to any TTCA, including as may be needed to ensure that full legal and beneficial title to any assets is conferred effectively upon Axis.
- (c) You may notify Us in writing if You wish to terminate a TTCA currently in operation. We are not obliged to agree to such termination, and/or may set such terms (e.g. as to date of termination) as We may consider to be in the best interests of both parties. You should be aware that immediate termination may not be practical, having regard to the totality of Your obligations to Us.
- (d) Money You place with Axis as collateral subject to a TTCA is treated for all purposes as being in anticipation of one or more Transactions and of securing or covering Your present, future, actual, contingent or prospective obligations to Us in relation to such Transaction(s) (including all present or future Margin Arrangements in respect thereof).
- (e) Important – material consequences of a TTCA are as follows:
 - (i) Your assets which are held by the Custodian under a TTCA in favour of Axis will be transferred by the Custodian out of its omnibus account for Axis clients mentioned above and held instead in a single omnibus account that We instruct the Custodian to maintain in Our name for all TTCA assets for all of Our clients for the time being.
 - (ii) Accordingly, should Axis fail or default as a business, You will have the status and rights of a general creditor of Axis in relation to all moneys or non-cash assets which we hold under the TTCA.

APPENDIX A:

Client Categorisation

We propose to classify You as a Professional Client. We are obliged to inform You that as a consequence of this categorisation, You may lose some of the protections afforded to Retail Clients under the FCA Rules.

In particular, the protections in the following areas will not apply:

1. Financial Ombudsman Service and Financial Services Compensation Scheme

You may not have access to the Financial Ombudsman Service. In addition, You may not be entitled to compensation under the Financial Services Compensation Scheme if We default.

2. Disclosures

You will not be given any of the additional disclosures which are required to be provided to Retail Clients (for example on costs, commissions, fees and charges).

3. Advice and financial promotions

The standard of investment advice provided to a Professional Client, and the detail of any financial promotion or other communication which We make to a Professional Client, are entitled to reflect Our view of that Professional Client's understanding of the Investment and the risks involved, and may therefore be less detailed, or more technically presented, than would be the case for a Retail Client.

4. Best Execution

We do not need to inform You of material difficulties relevant to the proper carrying out of Your order(s) promptly.

5. Client Money

If We are holding money on behalf of a Retail Client:

- (a) We must notify that client as to whether interest is payable (which is not required for Professional Clients); and

- (b) We cannot transfer the money to a third party without notifying a Retail Client and We must explain who is responsible for that third party's actions or omissions, and the consequences where that third party becomes insolvent.

APPENDIX B:

Summary of Conflicts of Interest Policy

1. Introduction

This policy covers conflicts that may arise between Axis or an employee of the company and its clients, as well as between one client and another. The Company's senior management is responsible for ensuring that the systems, controls and procedures in place are robust and adequate to identify and manage a conflict as and when it arises. These procedures are regularly reviewed by the Compliance Department in order to ensure that they are up to date, reflect best practice and that all relevant activities and regulations are covered.

Guarding against conflicts of interest

Various systems and procedures have been put in place to minimise any potential for conflicts of interest. This list, although not exhaustive, includes:

- Personal account detailing requirements within the firm;
- Information barriers preventing the flow of information between the group companies;
- A gifts and inducements policy;
- Segregation of duties where a potential conflict of interest may arise if duties are carried out by the same individual;
- A public disclosure policy ("whistleblowing") for the firm Identification of conflicts;

In the course of identifying potential conflicts of interest, Axis will take into account whether Axis or a staff member or another client:

- Is likely to make a financial gain, or avoid a loss, at the expense of the client;
- Has an interest in the outcome of a service provided to the client or of a transaction carried out on behalf of the client, which is distinct from the client's interest in that outcome;

- Has a financial or other incentive to favour the interests of another client or group of clients over the interests of the client;
- Carries on the same business as the client; or

Management of conflicts

Axis operates several policies for managing conflicts of interest, including an independence policy and, where appropriate, information barriers. Where We are aware of a conflict We will manage the conflict in line with our policy and procedures. We will disclose a conflict to the relevant clients where it is not practicable for Us to manage it effectively or We otherwise think disclosure is necessary or desirable. In some cases We may decide not to proceed with a transaction which has given rise or We believe may give rise to a conflict of interest. In addition the nature of the business is non-advisory and therefore such client conflicts are less likely to arise.

APPENDIX D:

Risk Warnings and Information about Margin Trading Forex & Margin Trading Risk Warnings

The risk of loss in dealing in Margin Trading can be substantial and you may lose more than your initial investment.

You should not deal in Margin Trading unless You understand the nature of the contract You are entering into and the extent of Your exposure to risk. You should also be satisfied that the contract is suitable for You in the light of Your circumstances and financial position.

The leverage that is available in Margin Trading means that a small margin can lead to large losses or gains, and also means that a small movement in price can lead to a much larger movement in the value of Your position and could result in losses substantially exceeding any initial margin.

The risk of loss in dealing in Margin Trading can be substantial and it is possible to lose more than Your initial investment. If the market moves against Your position, You may be called upon to deposit a substantial amount of additional margin funds, on short notice, in order to maintain Your position. If You do not provide the required funds within the time required by Us, Your position may be liquidated at a loss, and You will be liable for any resulting deficit in Your account.

There may be costs associated with financing positions held overnight and these costs should be considered in advance of deciding whether to commence Margin Trading.

In light of the above You should consider carefully whether or not this product is suitable for You in light of Your circumstances and financial position, and if in any doubt please seek professional advice.

Information

In respect of every Transaction made between Us We shall act as matched principal with you.

Transactions in forex involve You taking a position with regard to what You consider the price of one currency will be against the price of another currency in the future. In order to do this You will trade in a currency pair with us, for example Euro/US Dollar (EUR/USD) or US Dollar/Japanese Yen (USD/JPY).

Example of Margin Trading in Forex

Currency pairings are expressed as two codes usually separated by a division symbol (e.g. GBP/USD), the first representing the "base currency" and the other the "secondary currency". The price quoted is the value of the secondary currency expressed in terms of one unit of the base currency. For example GBP/USD = 2.0045 denotes that one unit of sterling (the base currency) can be exchanged for 2.0045 US dollars (the secondary currency). The prices that We quote for each currency pair are normally labelled as the "Bid Price" and the "Offer Price".

The Bid Price is the price that We will pay You in the secondary currency for the position in the base currency. The Offer Price is the price You will pay Us in the secondary currency for the position in the base currency. The Bid Price will always be less than the Offer Price. The difference between the Bid and the Offer price is known as the "Spread". We make a profit from the spread. In general the wider the Spread the greater our profit.

You can take a view on the price of the base currency increasing by "Going Long" or You can take a view on the price of the base currency decreasing by "Going Short". For example, if You consider that the price of Sterling will increase against the price of the US Dollar You will decide to take a position with Us where You will Go Long (or buy) GBP/USD. If, by contrast, You consider that the price of Sterling will drop against the price of the US Dollar You will decide to take a position with Us whereby You Go Short or sell GBP/USD.

If You were Going Long, the opening price of the currency pair would be fixed at our Offer Price. If our Bid Price at the end of the contract is greater than our Offer Price at the commencement of the contract then, subject to the deduction of applicable charges, You will receive a sum calculated by multiplying the number of units of the base currency by the difference between the opening Offer Price and the closing Bid Price of the currency pair. However, if the Bid Price for the currency pair at the end of the contract does not exceed the Offer Price for the currency pair at the commencement of the contract You will be required to pay Us a sum calculated by multiplying the number of units of the base currency by the difference between the opening Offer Price and the closing Bid

Price of the currency pair. Regardless of how the price of the currency pair moves You will also be required to pay Us applicable interest charges, ticket charges (which You will be notified about separately), and financing charges

If however You were Going Short, the opening price of the currency pair would be fixed at our Bid Price. If the Offer Price of the currency pair at the end of the contract is less than the Bid Price at the commencement of the contract then, subject to the deduction of applicable charges, You will receive a sum calculated by multiplying the number of units of the base currency by the difference between the opening Bid Price and the closing Offer Price of the currency pair. However, if the Offer Price for the currency pair at the end of the contract exceeds the Bid Price for the currency pair at the commencement of the contract You will be required to pay Us a sum calculated by multiplying the number of units of the base currency by the difference between the opening Bid Price and the closing Offer Price of the currency pair.

Again, regardless of how the price of the currency pair moves You will also be required to pay Us applicable interest charges, ticket charges (which You will be notified about separately), and financing charges.

Transactions in forex involve the obligation to settle a position at a future date. At 22.00 London time (which is the standard forex market value- date change time) each day, We will settle all spot transactions by closing the trade at the current market rate and reopening it for the following day's spot date at a rate that will reflect the interest rate differential.

Whenever any transaction is entered into which is effectively closing an existing transaction, then the obligations of each of Us under both sets of transactions shall automatically and immediately be terminated upon entering into the second transaction, except for any settlement difference payment due in respect of such closed out transactions.

By Margin Trading with Us You will be required to provide a certain amount of margin and We will then leverage that margin. This exposes You to a high degree of risk. Leverage is the amount, expressed as a multiple, by which the notional amount traded exceeds the margin required to trade.

We will advise You of the amount of margin and the amount of leverage that We will require on a transaction by transaction basis. If the price of the currency pair moves against Your interests You may be called upon to deposit additional margin at short notice and We may close out Your position without notice if We do not receive the additional margin from you.

You may be able to agree with Us to limit Your losses while Margin Trading by using stop loss, limit loss or take profit orders. These facilities may help You limit Your exposure to Us and We strongly recommend that You consider the use of such facilities.

New forex prices are quoted by Us between 22.00 on Sunday and 22.00 on Friday (UK time) and prices for other Margin Trading instruments in accordance with their individual underlying market

Positions in forex which are rolled over from one trading day to the next will incur financing based upon the interest rate differentials between the currencies in the currency pair.

Positions in other Margin Trading instruments, which are rolled from one trading day to the next, will incur financing based upon mark-up of the relevant London Interbank Offered Rate.

You pay interest on the currency that You are short on and You receive interest in the currency that You are long on. For example, if You are long on the GBP/USD pair You will receive interest on Sterling and You will pay interest on the US Dollar. If Sterling has a higher interest rate than the US Dollar then You will receive a net interest payment but if Sterling has a lower interest rate than the US Dollar then You will pay out a net interest amount. The financing price offered to You will differ depending on whether

You are Going Long or Going Short. We may make a profit from the difference in the financing price offered to persons Going Long and the financing price offered to persons Going Short.

Appendix E:

Designated Investment Risk Warnings

As an FCA regulated investment firm, we would like to bring to your attention the nature and risks of designated investments under COBS 14.3.

Designated investments, which include shares, bonds, and other securities, can offer investors the potential for significant returns but also come with a high degree of risk. Before investing in designated investments, it is important to understand the nature of the investments and the potential risks involved.

Firstly, designated investments are subject to market fluctuations and are impacted by a wide range of economic and political factors. This can result in the value of investments going down as well as up, and as such, you may not get back the full amount you invested.

Secondly, investing in designated investments also carries the risk of company-specific risks. For instance, the issuer may default on the bond or go bankrupt, which can result in the loss of your investment.

Furthermore, investing in designated investments involves risk relating to currency, country, and liquidity. Changes in the value of a foreign currency can affect the returns on investments, while investments in certain countries may be subject to political or economic instability. In addition, investments may be illiquid, which means that you may not be able to sell your investments when you need to, or you may be forced to sell them at a lower price.

It is therefore important that you fully understand the nature and risks associated with designated investments before investing. We recommend that you carefully read all investment documentation and seek professional advice where necessary.

Please be aware that past performance is not indicative of future results. The value of investments can fall as well as rise, and you may not get back the amount you invested. The level of risk involved in designated investments will vary depending on the investment strategy, and you should be prepared to accept the risks associated with any investment before making a decision.

If you have any questions about the risks associated with designated investments or would like to discuss your investment options further, please do not hesitate to contact us.
